Cacttus Education

Web & App Developer
I am currently a second-year student in the Web and Mobile Development Level III Professional School program. During my first year, I gained hands-on experience by working on various projects using technologies like Java, MySQL, and JavaScript. Some notable projects included a Rent-a-Car web application, a personal portfolio, and a Student Management System developed in Java.
Now in my second year, I am further expanding my expertise by delving into Spring Boot, UI/UX design, and Android development. These experiences are enhancing my technical and creative skills, preparing me for a dynamic career in software development.
